To whom it may Concern,

We just completed a free standing garage and apartment project with Enterprise Contracting. As homeowners, we have now built four homes and one major remodel, so we have more experience in the construction field than most homeowners. This experience was also the most professional and well managed project we have completed. Every aspect from the beginning to the end was handled efficiently. There was always a contact person for each aspect of the job. They always conducted themselves in a very friendly and professional manner. Communication during of the project was always superb and prompt. We always had someone who was available for questions or issues, if they arose.

I cannot say enough about Tim O'Roarke, our project manager. He made this project as smooth as anyone could expect. You will not find anyone as attentive as Tim. He just got things done and done right, the first time!

Every individual in the company from Andy Riley, the owner; Greg Mullen, the Vice President of Operations and Stephanie Gugino in the office, exemplified how a construction company should be run. Every subcontractor we encountered was not only excellent in their field but exceeding courteous. It made working with them a very comfortable and positive experience. You always welcomed them into to home to complete the work.

We ended up with a very well built 3 car garage and second floor apartment. We are very pleased with the results and would not hesitate to undertake another design/build construction process with them. In fact, if we do decide to build again, we will go directly to Enterprise Contracting.
