Dear Andy,

We are writing to tell you how pleased we are with the recent kitchen renovation that Enterprise Contracting completed in our home in Vienna, VA. From start to finish, the project was managed professionally. The crews did an excellent job, working long hours and on weekends, to deliver a working kitchen in time for the Christmas holidays. After the holidays, they continued to work through the tremendous snows we had in January and February to clear all the "punch list" items and close out the job.

For us, this was a major renovation that included demolition of the existing kitchen, relocation of utilities and appliances, demolition of a wall to expand the new dining area, vaulting the ceiling in the new kitchen and addition of a skylight, structural work to support the 2nd story while allowing removal of a soffit from the existing kitchen, and addition of a new exterior door and deck off the kitchen.

In the kitchen we increased the number and size of the cabinets, installed granite countertops and undercounter lighting. New hardwood floors replaced existing tile floors in the entryway, hall, powder room, and kitchen area. The new floors were "toothed in" to the existing wood floors in the dining area so well that it's virtually impossible to tell which was newly installed and which was original. At the end of every workday, the construction area was cleaned up, and the disruption to our lives was minimized as much as possible.

As pleased as we are with the renovation itself, we would be remiss if we did not recognize the superb job that Ian Loch did managing the project. From the very beginning, Ian took great care to ensure we were informed of every facet of the project's progress. He identified potential issues early enough so that we could make decisions and keep the project moving. He scheduled the various trades so there was minimal down time and he coordinated with county inspectors to ensure all work met code and was properly signed off. Communication was excellent every step of the way.

Please know that if we have additional remodeling needs, we will call Enterprise Contracting to bid on the job. We are also happy to offer our name for your reference list.

Sincerely,

George and Mary Wheeler
